

Course Out-Come LL.M.

- CO1. To increase the critical as well as reflective thinking skills amongst students so as to enable them to contribute to the society by their expertise in the field of law.
- CO2. To develop amongst them research culture through various research assignments and to encourage them to publish their research papers and to contribute to the academics by their expertise knowledge.
- CO3. To make them understand the principles of international law and perform international research;
- CO4. To motivate students to join academics and to undertake the responsibility to mould new law aspirants to become good law professionals.
- CO5. To get students acquainted with Research Methodology and to encourage them to pursue doctorate in Law.
- CO6. To create amongst them, awareness related to socio-political and socio-economic issues involving legal rules and principles.
- CO7. To inculcate amongst students, problem solving ability through strong logical legal arguments in the field of their specialization.
- CO8. To study and compare the laws of different countries and to analyse their best practices.
- CO9. To inculcate communicative skills, effective listening, critical reading, objectivity in legal drafting and persuasive skills.